DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 1 and 26 are objected to because of the following informalities: In lines 9-10 of claim 1 and line 12 of claim 26 "to thereby affect said engine accordingly" should be deleted. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shelor et al (2003/0005913). Note a method of demonstrating the affect of aftermarket apparatus on the performance of an engine 4, comprising the steps of: providing a mobile carrier (i.e. a vehicle, see para. 0022) adapted for transport on a highway, providing the mobile carrier for carrying said engine, providing an aftermarket apparatus, i. e. fuel cooler 15, mounted to the engine to modify the properties of fuel to be combusted by said engine, where said aftermarket apparatus is not an apparatus that heats the fuel when a in liquid form, and providing a switch mechanism 9 for switching the aftermarket apparatus 15 into and out of operation (see Figures 1b and 1c) so that the fuel coupled to the engine has modified properties (i.e. it is cooler) when said aftermarket apparatus is switched into operation, and the fuel coupled to the engine does not have modified properties when the aftermarket apparatus is switched out of operation, said engine remains running, irrespective of whether the aftermarket apparatus is switched into operation or out of operation, and providing an indication (via thermostatic controller 13, which senses the temperature of the fuel) of the affect thereof on the engine performance, i.e., it will indicate the temperature of the fuel, which is an aspect of engine performance.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-15, 21-25, and 27 are allowed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
